

The International Battery Materials Association Annual Meeting 2025

Singapore, 9–14 Nov 2025

About IBA 2025

IBA annual conference series began in 1975 and has established a strong reputation for state-of-the-art presentations and information exchange on the latest emerging battery technologies and their wide-ranging applications. The next annual conference of the International Battery Association (IBA) will be held in the beautiful country of Singapore from November 9th to 14th, 2025. Singapore, being well connected with several countries in Asia, Europe, and North America, will offer a stimulating location for the IBA 2025 meeting, blending fundamental academic research, national laboratory efforts, with a vibrant battery industrial sector. Oral presentations will be given by invitation only.

Call for Poster Abstracts

We are calling for abstracts now! Please visit <https://iba2025.com/call-for-abstracts/> to see instructions. Please note that abstracts received after the deadline will not be considered. For inquiries, please contact the Conference Secretariat (secretariat@iba2025.com).

Topics

Topics are related to, but not limited to, the following:

- Li-ion, Na-ion and K-ion batteries
- Solid-state batteries
- New battery concepts and systems
- Advanced electrode and electrolyte materials
- Advances in enabling metal anodes
- Battery interface and its characterization
- Advanced characterization tools
- Metal air, metal sulphur, multivalent and redox flow batteries
- Modelling and simulation of interfaces, materials, composites and systems
- Energy storage system integrations and issues
- Battery manufacturing and recycling
- Market prospects and penetration

Balaya Palani (Chair), National University of Singapore
Derrick Fam (Co-chair), Singapore Battery Consortium
